

4 WAYS TO OBTAIN SEED

State Subsidy Program

Participating National Wild Turkey Federation state chapters offer seed and possibly other land management products to adult members at a discount through the State Subsidy Program.

- The State Chapter shares the cost of products, such as Turkey Gold Chufa, various seed mixes and seedlings
- Products and participation vary by state
- States select products and discounts to offer members, up to 50% off
- Discount offers are first come, first served based on State Chapter funds
- Products ship directly to the member

Members in participating states order online at nwtf.org/subsidy.

Conservation Surplus Seed Program

This local-chapter program helps distribute outdated commercial seed that can only be used for conservation purposes. When available from seed companies, local chapters may request bags of Roundup Ready corn, grain sorghum, soybeans, winter wheat, and, occasionally, sunflowers.

- Seed may have slightly lower germination success
- Members must pick up seed from local distribution points
- Local chapters collect shipping and handling fees from members for each bag of seed
- Members sign a stewardship form agreeing to regulations of the program

For more information, contact your local chapter representative, regional director or call the NWTf at (803) 637-3106 or 1-800-843-6983.

Special Negotiated Seed

The NWTF has access to seed vendors to provide native seed mixes for projects on private and public land.

- Specialty seed projects on state, federal and corporate lands and NRCS programs
- Volume and quantity discounts available
- Emphasis on native warm-season grasses and pollinator mixes

For more information, contact NWTF (803) 637-3106 or 1-800-843-6983.

Retail

BioLogic was born on research and proven with quality products. You can trust that each Mossy Oak BioLogic bag will give you the best chance at success.

- BioLogic sells products at a discounted rate to NWTF members through the NWTF Seed Store
- Most BioLogic retail products and seed mixes are available

- Members are required to register on the Seed Store site prior to viewing discounts
